

So, you're joining a Mola-Mola Spotting Trip with AMD-B – I hope you have a great day!

Please read and take note of the following, then sign at the bottom.

Briefing

Before each dive your guide will give you a briefing during which s/he will mention "maximum depth". Following PADI Guidelines, your first dive will be the deepest and subsequent dives will become successively shallower.

No dive will exceed 40metres.

Please do not exceed the 'maximum depth' stated in each briefing. AquaMarine dive staff have been instructed that if any diver exceeds the 'maximum depth' given in a briefing, they may not join any further dives on that day.

This is for safety reasons. I am sure that you appreciate the fact that we care about your safety!

Air Consumption

Mola-Mola are generally (not always!) found at deeper depths, so you may be diving deeper than you are used to.

Please consider the effects of nitrogen narcosis and take extra care, thank you.

In addition, because you may be diving deeper than usual, you will use more air.

Therefore you as a diver have a responsibility to not only check your own air more frequently, but also your buddy's air

You are required to clearly signal to your guide when you have half a tank (100bar) of air left. It is your responsibility to ensure that your guide understands that you have half a tank of air remaining.

Distances

Please do not go ahead of your dive guide.
dive deeper than your dive guide.
ascend or descend without your guide.

Please do stay closer than usual to your buddy stay close to your dive guide
stay close to the reef (without kicking it!) to avoid stronger areas of currents

Finally: please approach the MM slowly and maintain a respectful distance from them:

You then have more chance they stay around for you to enjoy seeing them!
